Discord

We have set up a chat workspace at Discord, where you can interact with the authors, the presenters and our community, ask questions during the live sessions, etc.

Click here to join LICS 2021: <https://discord.gg/y7rzRU8kPb>

This platform will be open simultaneously with our conference and will remain open for two months after the actual conference ends.

You can either use Discord in your browser or download the application at this address: <https://discord.com/download>

After download and sign up you can access the LICS 2021 server we have created. We would encourage you to familiarize yourselves with the “Getting Started Guide” of the application so you can benefit from the whole range of what it has to offer.

A few quick points can be found in the descriptive image of the interface below.
