

To whom it may concern

Rethymno, January 12, 2021

Dear Sir/Madam,

During the last six years the European Health Psychology Society (EHPS) has established an excellent cooperation with Easy Conferences, a professional conference organizer (<https://easyconferences.eu/>), as a result of their high ability and efficiency in organizing big events and conferences, and in providing administrative services of a high standard.

Each year, EHPS organizes a conference in different parts of Europe, attended by around 800-1000 delegates. In recent years, Easy Conferences has organized these conferences. Our cooperation has undoubtedly led to the maximum possible success of the conferences, to the significant improvement of the services provided to the participants, as well as to a fully transparent management of the events. Easy Conferences is responsible for handling the entire process: from handling the submitted abstracts, to communicating with delegates, managing scientific and social activities, and managing all financial aspects of the events. All these in a uniquely effective way.

In 2020, Easy Conferences effectively managed a four-day long online scientific meeting which replaced EHPS annual conference that did not take place due to the SARS-CoV-2 pandemic. For 2021, Easy Conferences has already initiated the preparation of an online full conference, which will replace the typical in-person conference due to the unremitting impact of the pandemic.

Furthermore, Easy Conferences is responsible for providing several services to the EHPS. These include (but are not limited to) the maintenance, updating and hosting of our website (www.ehps.net), hosting a blog associated with the Society (<https://practicalhealthpsychology.com/>), providing LimeSurvey software services, mailing the EHPS Newsletter and other announcements to the members of the Society, developing and supporting the use of a membership tool.

For all of the above reasons, I am more than satisfied with our collaboration with Easy Conferences and I highly recommend them as an outstanding organizer of international conferences and as an excellent provider of administration and support services.

Sincerely,

Evangelos C. Karademas, PhD, FEHPS

President of the European Health Psychology Society

Professor of Clinical Health Psychology, University of Crete, Greece
Research Fellow, Foundation for Research and Technology-Hellas (FORTH)
Assoc. Editor, Translational Behavioral Medicine
Assoc. Editor, Psychology - The Journal of the Hellenic Psychological Society

Gallos, 74100 Rethymno, Greece. Tel. + 30 2831-0-77532, fax: + 30 2831-0-77578, email:
karademas@uoc.gr