This year we organized the sixth edition of BRAON, Workshop on Belief Revision, Argumentation, Ontologies, and Norms. For the first time, we hired the registration services for the workshop through easyconference. The result was fantastic.

Easyconference took care of registrations, various services, payments, receipts, and invoicing in a quick and efficient manner (only those familiar with the bureaucracy of universities in different countries know how difficult this can be).

Additionally, the backend service was always available to us, providing us with comprehensive weekly information on the progress of registrations. Furthermore, any alterations to the registration site or special needs were typically resolved on the same day.

For all these reasons, we will continue to rely on easyconference's services in the future, and we highly recommend their services to anyone organizing a conference or workshop. I assure you that you will avoid many headaches.
